MadCap Contributor

Document Contribution and Review

MadCap Contributor makes it easy for anyone in your organization to review and contribute content to your documentation.

> Within a couple months everyone was using Contributor. Since then, Contributor has allowed us to complete roughly twice the amount of work with the same number of technical writers; we couldn't have kept up with the increased workflow without it."

Subject matter experts and content contributors outside the document management team can edit and review topics, make annotations, and update content with a simple, easy-to-use interface. Tight integration with Flare makes MadCap Contributor an essential tool in the contribution and review process.
